Champion U.F.A.

Not in Politics.

The Champion U. F. A. met in Campbell's hall on Friday afternoon, with the president, P. M. Patterson, in the chair. There was a good attendance. A proposition from Valdemar Leod that delegates be appointed to a convention in this riding to select a candidate was turned down, a vote showing the majority against political action at the present time. A committee consisting of P. M. Patterson, H. E. Johnson, G. F. Smith, Geo. Harper, and J. F. Harper was appointed to attend the meeting of the Valdemar Local on Saturday. The report of the delegates to the Edmonton convention, Messrs. Mark and Beaubier was given at this meeting, and other matters of interest were discussed.

G. F. Smith returned last week from a visit of several weeks to Wisconsin and North Dakota points. Applied After Shaving
Keeps the Skin Soft and Smooth
MANY men suffer from skin irritation of the skin as a result of shaving. With some it assumes a form of eczema, and becomes most annoying and unsightly.

By applying a little of Dr. Chase's Ointment after shaving the irritation is overcome and such ailments as Barber's Itch and Eczema are avoided. 60 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmunds, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

Dr. Chase's Ointment

A Story of the Sea

Is Unique Among the After-the-War Narratives.

In a great many ways Mr. Archibald Hurd's book, "A Merchant Fleet at War," is unique among the after-the-war narratives. In a sense it is a record, at times so conservative as to be almost an official report of the war activities of the Canadian coast guard.

It was on March 27, 1917, at eight o'clock in the evening that the Thracia, Captain Duff, a ship of 16 years of age, was left to tell the tale. It succeeded in saving his life by clinging for sixteen hours to the keel of a captured vessel, during the course of which time he was seen and jered at by the crew of the submarine. One of them, raised a "captured vessel," during the course of which time he was seen and jered at by the crew of the submarine. Remarkable Clock Attracts Attention
Movements Duplicate Those of Sun, Moon and Earth.

Michael Holck, of Chicago, has invented a remarkable astronomical clock which, in a season when many new models of clocks have been introduced, has attracted much scientific interest.

In a glass dome on top of it is a miniature sun, earth and moon whose orbits duplicate those of these bodies in the heavens. The sun remains stationary but the earth turns on its axis, the moon revolves around the earth, and both planets duplicate the sun. The globe representing the sun and moon are coated with phosphors and show the nights and days of the various phases of the earth's satellite. Eclipses of the sun and moon are clearly indicated.

The amazing thing about it is that the earth revolves every twenty-four hours and the earth and moon take twelve months to complete their circle about the sun while marking off the four seasons. While these planetary movements are visible, a dial on the face of the clock records the changes in the phases of the moon. Another dial records time, as ordinary clocks do, in minutes and hours.

For all its complicated mechanism, the clock is of ordinary size and not too cumbersome to occupy the customary place on a mantelpiece.

Boots and Shoes and Editorial Policy

Under date of Feb. 16, the following interesting article, dealing with the Murray idea, appeared in the Regina Leader:

The Murray idea that Canadian manufacturers should only advertise in newspapers which support the Mackenzie Government and a high protective tariff finds a warm supporter in The Hartt Boot and Shoe Co., Ltd. of Fredericton, N.B.

Unlike the Ames-Holten Co.—possibly the largest shoe manufacturer in Canada—whose shoes are apparently made to be worn by Conservatives and Liberal alike, by Grain Growers and High Tariff and Low Tariff people, and are accordingly advertised in Canadian newspapers irrespective of their editorial policies—the Hartt Boot and Shoe Co. have laid it down as the policy of their company that they will only do business with newspapers that are supporting the Mackenzie Government and a Protective tariff.

The extent to which this principle is followed in the policy adopted by the Hartt Boot and Shoe Co. is fully set forth in the following letter, addressed last September by the president of the company, S. D. Palmer, to the Vancouver Sun:

THE HARTT BOOT AND SHOE CO., LTD.
Fredericton, N.B., Sept. 7, 1920.
Vancouver Sun,
Attention Advertising Manager.

Gentlemen: I received a day or two ago from you, your night letter, regarding the advertisement of my shoes.

"Your campaign has started here and we are disappointed you have overlooked us. We have been in communication with you from time to time and hoped that your advertising would appear in our columns. Sunday Sun has exclusive issue and is choice when one paper is required to cover the entire country."

Would say in reply, that it is true that at one time we were thinking of using your paper, but to be frank with you (and I take it for granted that you will be a constant of the way) and the fact that your paper was not to be the editorial policy of the press.

I believe that your medium has advantages, on account of it being the morning paper in Vancouver. On the other hand we are firm believers in the policy of doing business, as far as possible, with our friends, and we have not at all times been in a position to do so.

The definition of your tariff policy as announced in your issue of June 29 would be fairly satisfactory. It has been consistently followed up since then we notice a tendency to favor the tariff policy of Mackenzie King and the Government of Canada. We are not sure of your way of thinking the return of a party pledged to Mr. King's platform at the present time would impair the lack of confidence in business circles that the country could afford to have.

As an illustration, I might refer to the editorial which you ran under the heading of "The Hartt Boot and Shoe Co. and the Mackenzie Government." I have no brief for this Company and have no interest in it either directly or indirectly but being a business man and a manufacturer I can see very plainly the harm that would be done to the shoe industry by allowing the tariff running to full capacity all the year round, thereby turning out a tremendous output which they could not dispose of at a very small margin of profit and still make large financial returns on their investment.

The average man reading an article such as I refer to above would likely be under the impression from your line of argument that the shoe industry from the standpoint of price, would be much safer in the hands of small millers than in the hands of large millers, whereas as a matter of fact, if it were not for the great efficiency of the larger plants, the chances are that the consumers would be paying a good deal more than they are today for their shoes.

The above illustration is given to you frankly and candidly, and it is in the best interests of the shoe industry that we should have no further discussion of the matter.

We believe that we have the right to say with whom we shall spend our money in the most judicious manner. We are sure that we are serving the best interests of ourselves and the business community in general when we advertise in a paper whose editorial policy has the effect of lowering down rather than building up the business interests of the country.

(Signed) THE HARTT BOOT & SHOE CO., LTD.
S. D. Palmer, President.

Keeping the Home Clean
BY LORETTO C. LYNCH
An Acknowledged Expert in All Matters Pertaining to Household Management.

Just now it is rather between seasons. The holidays have passed and the spring time is not yet quite with us. Can you imagine the far-reaching influence along health lines if every housewife in the entire country were to clean her house thoroughly and see to it that it was kept clean?

The right way to clean a house is simple and time saving. The wrong way is cleaning a house merely because the dirt and dust from one part of the house to another—such as dusting with a feather duster.

A scrubbing nail and brush, a good broom, soft cloths dampened to aid in collecting dust, warm water, soap, fresh air and sunshine are all that are required to clean up.

If a house has been badly neglected, only one room at a time should be attempted. Unless one has extra strength and facilities for carrying out the work that is tackled to the floor, it is much wiser from a health standpoint to run up the carpet and thoroughly clean it either by beating in the sun or by the steaming process, known to the professional carpet cleaner. Then have it made into one or several rugs. These are easily picked up and cleaned daily or weekly.

RICH, RED BLOOD MEANS HEALTH
Pale Cheeks and Bloodless Lips Are a Danger Signal.

To be pale is no longer the fashion; to be languid is an affliction. Today the most attractive girl is the one with the gleam of health in her cheeks, lips naturally red, and eyes sparkling with life. Add to this a quick active step and everyone can tell the girl whose veins are full of the pure, rich blood of health.

It is not the complexion, however, that appears from her skin; it is the blood, which flows and weak looks make men pale and bloodless. The cause of so much suffering among women is the fact that they do not know the cause of their bloodlessness. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People have transformed thousands of women from the pale, bloodless, and weak to the healthy, robust, and strong.

These pills help to get rid of the impurities in the blood, and the blood reaches every part of the body, giving strength, rosy cheeks and brightness to the face. THURSDAY, March 3, 1921.

The Champion Local of the U. F. A. has decided that no direct political action is advisable. At present there does not seem to be reports from other locals to show that this is a general tendency throughout the province. If the action of this local may be interpreted to mean that the farmers of this district do not approve of the extension of the group movement under present conditions in the federal arena, there is a good deal to recommend in their action. This country should be as near as possible a unit when the fate of the present administration is to be determined.

From present appearances there is a considerable likelihood of the plebiscite legislation of last year being declared ultra vires by the courts and just where the province will stand in that case is a conundrum over which there is considerable worry. The Dominion government will not be represented in the case of the Gold Seal Liquor Co. against the Dominion Express Co. which is a direct question of the status of the legislation now in force.

The Hon. Geo. P. Smith, minister of education, is having quite a lengthy controversy with the Alberta Teachers' Alliance, in which he does not appear to be making much progress. Just what he hopes to achieve by opposing the alliance is a little obscure, but at any rate he does not appear to have any idea of yielding to their demands.

The new express rates are in force, and while they were supposed to be from 20 to 35 per cent higher than the old rates, experience of them shows an advance of from 50 to 100 per cent. Really it is a wonder that it is safe for the members of the railway commission to be at large. Their conception of fair express and freight rates except what the companies would have the nerve to impose without their sanction.

Copies of amendments to the small debts act and a new act entitled "An act to fix a minimum wage for women" have been distributed to members of the legislature. The amendments to the small debts act provide that justices of the peace shall have jurisdiction in the judicial districts in which they reside to try any action for debt, whether payable in money or otherwise, not to exceed fifty dollars, that police magistrates shall have similar jurisdiction in the judicial districts in which they reside to try actions in debt not to exceed one hundred dollars. Where such justice or police magistrate resides within a sub-district, of a judicial district, their jurisdiction shall extend for the purposes only in the sub-district. Another clause provides that no justice or police magistrate or justice of the peace, shall try any action under the act unless the defendant or some one of the defendants resides or carries

John Kline is in receipt of information from that part of Russia lying near Poland which indicates that conditions there are awful beyond description. Typhus is raging amongst a starving population. Food and fuel are at a vanishing point. Large and prosperous towns have disappeared entirely. And still there are people in this country who would introduce soviet rule here.

Country roads are still a long way from being satisfactory, but it will not take long under present conditions to dry them up thoroughly.

Be Lazy And Live Long

Laziness, at its best, conserves energy, and it is the demands we make on our store of energy and vitality that use us up. The absence of stress on the body and mind means, therefore, that each lasts longer. Hustlers and over-hard workers die many years before they should. They use themselves up. The moral is obvious. Be lazy—not in the sense of being a parasite, or a shirker or work-shy, but in the very sensible sense of taking things quietly and thereby conserving your energy and vitality. That sort of "laziness" means longevity. You last longer, like all machines that are run quietly and not "raced. Medical men have many times pointed out that in cases of illness or accident it is not so much the medicine or the surgeon's skill that saves life as the store of vitality that the patient has to draw on. Hustlers have little or none! "Lazy" folk have plenty. The former have a fight for life, and as often as not fail. The latter win through. So be "lazy," in the proper sense, and live long.

The Only Solution

In this column a few weeks ago, some attention was devoted to the subject of the Canadian Banking system and the relations existing between the Banks on the one hand and the public on the other hand—the public being divided into two groups, those who placed money on deposit in the Banks and those who borrow of money from the Banks. At that time the principle was upheld that a Bank's first duty was to its depositors, that is, to those from whom it had accepted money and for whom it undertook to act as a trustee of the funds thus entrusted to it.

It was further pointed out that the banking power of a Bank depended upon the volume of its deposits, and that, if a Bank failed to adequately protect its depositors, it would very quickly lose them and hence have no money to loan. It may be that there are still some people laboring under the delusion that a Bank carries on a loaning business out of its paid-up capital and accumulated reserves, but it only requires a very casual study of the Monthly Bank Returns to reveal the fact that the total paid-up capital and reserves of all the chartered Banks in Canada is equivalent to only a small fraction of the amount of money they have out in loans to the people. This means that the Banks have loaned the money received by them by way of deposits, retaining in cash on hand only sufficient to meet any demands which might be made upon them from day to day.

Such a system—and it is the only sound and safe banking system—forces upon Banks the necessity when "hard times" and "financial stringencies" arise to curtail credits, because it is inevitable that it is during just such periods that (1) the making of deposits drops to a low mark, and (2) that those who have money on deposit have to draw some of it for use. There is only one thing for the Banks to do in order to protect their depositors and be in a position to honor all cheques drawn upon them, and that is to curtail credits and reduce loans.

In a very notable address before the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' convention at Moose Jaw early in February, Hon. C. A. Dunning, Provincial Treasurer, not only very clearly outlined the above situation, but he demonstrated, apparently to the satisfaction of his big audience, why a Federal Banking system is the only one in which the people of the West can look for satisfactory results. The West is a seasonal country. In the Fall and early Winter, when the grain crop is harvested and largely marketed, the bulk of the people have money. It is at that time the farmers pay their bills, interest on loans and mortgages, and when the better established farmers place money on deposit in the Banks. At that season few farmers, comparatively speaking, require credit, and the money is held for the speculative purpose of holding their grain for a rise in the market price.

At other periods of the year, farmers are not making deposits, but are either gradually withdrawing money they had on deposit or are asking credit.

In other words, at the one period of the year when a purely local or Provincial Bank would have money on deposit which could be used for loaning purposes, the demand for credit is at a minimum, while the period when loans are most urgently required is the time when deposits are being made, but are reduced to the lowest figure. It will be seen, therefore, that a purely local Western Bank would never be able to function as a great loaning institution at the very time when loans were imperatively required. Under the Federal system, on the other hand, a surplus of money on deposit in one section of the country can be used in another section where it may be required, money flowing back and forth, and in a circle, with the varying seasonal requirements of all sections.

Mr. Dunning, therefore, held out no hope of the establishment of purely Western agricultural Banks. On the other hand, while frankly stating that the present Canadian Banking system was well designed to meet the needs of commerce and industry, he was originally created—Mr. Dunning admitted it had its weaknesses from the Western agricultural standpoint. The remedy, however, was, in his opinion, to be found in the making of certain amendments to the Banking Act which would enable Banks to accept certain reserves now prohibited to them, and thereby make possible the extension of larger and better credit terms to farmers.

Many of the more far-seeing Western bankers realized the necessity of such amendments, and would favor them. Mr. Dunning, therefore, advised the farmers to urge such amendments upon the Banking Act came up for its decennial revision a year or two hence, rather than to persist in the impracticable demand for the establishment of local or Provincial Banks in the Western Provinces created for the specific purpose of meeting the credit needs of agriculture. This was impossible in a country where 75 per cent. of the people were engaged in a seasonal occupation. The present Federal Banking system, revised to meet the needs of agriculture, offers the only practical solution to this problem which is so vital to the development and prosperity of the West.

Found Valuable Jewels

Vast Quantities of Precious Stones in Old Trunk

Finance Minister Hegedus has discovered vast quantities of precious stones in an old iron trunk deposited unknown years ago in the treasury building of Budapest, Hungary.

The minister was searching the treasury in the hope of finding relief for the treasury's embarrassed state. He found a trunk which had been hidden to contain papers. When it was broken into, thousands of opals and other precious stones appeared, the value of which is estimated at 200,000,000 crowns.

WINTER HARD ON BABY

The winter season is a hard one on the baby. He is more or less confined to stuffy, badly ventilated rooms. It is so often funny that the mother does not get him out in the fresh air as often as she should. He catches colds which rack his little system, his stomach and bowels get out of order and he becomes peevish and cross. To guard against this the parent should keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house. They regulate the stomach and bowels and break up colds. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Williams-McCormick Co., Brockville, Ont.

May Identify Soldier Dead

Use of Teeth Charts to be Adopted by U.S. Army.

The United States garrison registration service has expressed itself as opposed to the selection at present of the body of an unidentified soldier from the United States war dead in France for removal and burial with honors in the United States, should congress enact legislation to this end. The reason is the constant reduction in the number of unidentified and the hope of the eventual identification of almost all of them through teeth charts which are being sent to Washington and compared with the records.

Gray Flannel for This Trim Frock

By Gertrude Berensford.

Flannel is a color in a favored fabric in the realm of dress. In the model that is illustrated a very pretty shade of gray is chosen. It is fashioned on the simple lines that so accentuate the youthfulness of the figure. Dark blue crepe braid in two different widths decorates this delightful dress, which boasts the very short sleeves that are remarked on many of the new creations for spring. The hat of gray crepe de chine is a new version of the sailor. The crown is softly draped and the brim lightly rolled away from the face. A band of crepe de chine is drawn around the crown and held at the sides so that the ends swing to the shoulder.

Costly for

Insurance Companies

Influenza Was More Expensive Than Post-War Casualties.

One of the outstanding features in the insurance business during the year ending March 31, 1920, was the excessive mortality in the early months due to the influenza epidemic, stated G. D. Finlayson, superintendent of insurance, in his report tabled in the house of commons by Sir Henry Drayton. Influenza was more costly to the life insurance companies in Canada during that period than were post-war casualties.

Would Amend Banking System.

Tentative steps for the establishment of a provincial rural credit system were taken recently by the Provincial Treasurer in suggesting that the Canadian Council of Agriculture commence an expert examination into the possibility of developing the Canadian banking system to meet the requirements of agriculture. The present banking system, he claimed, whilst a most admirable one, was not created to meet the demands for agriculture, and the system of management leaves it to the head office to grant loans, while officials are not in a position to judge the merits of the applicants.

The Family Physician.—The good doctor is always worth his fee. But it is not always possible to get a doctor just when you want him. In such cases, common sense suggests the use of reliable home remedies, such as Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, which is wonderfully effective in easing inflammatory pains and in healing cuts, scratches, bruises and sprains. The presence of this remedy in the family medicine chest saves many a life.

NOURISHING AND APPETISING

Good home made bread is the most palatable, wholesome and nourishing food in the world. It is far more economical than any other staple food. If people would eat less meat and other heavy foods they would feel better and help to keep down the cost of living. Bread made in the home with Royal Yeast Cakes is more nourishing and appetizing than any other. Nothing healthier for children and grown ups.

Scientists have discovered that yeast possesses remarkable curative powers due to its richness in vitamins—that by its use the blood is purified and enriched, and the restorative power of the body to disease greatly enhanced. Soak a cake of Royal Yeast for half an hour in a cup of lukewarm water with one teaspoon sugar. Then stir well and strain once or twice through muslin and drink the liquid. BETTER results will be obtained by allowing it to soak overnight and drinking half an hour before breakfast. Repeat as often as desired. Send name and address for free booklet entitled "Royal Yeast for Better Health."

What He would say—

"Use Imperial Mica Axle Grease and Imperial Eureka Harness Oil."—Save your horses, your harness, your wagons.

Imperial Mica Axle Grease lightens loads. It smooths the surface of axles with a coating of mica flakes. It cushions the axles with a layer of long-wearing grease, and materially reduces friction. Use half as much as you would of ordinary grease.

Imperial Eureka Harness Oil makes harness proof against dust, sweat and moisture. Keeps it soft and pliable. Prevents cracking and breaking of stitches. It prolongs the life of harness and adds greatly to its appearance. Is easily applied and surprisingly economical.

Both are sold in convenient sizes by dealers everywhere.
